Mapping the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.)

Jack Marcum
Coordinator, Research Services, General Assembly Mission Council
Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.)

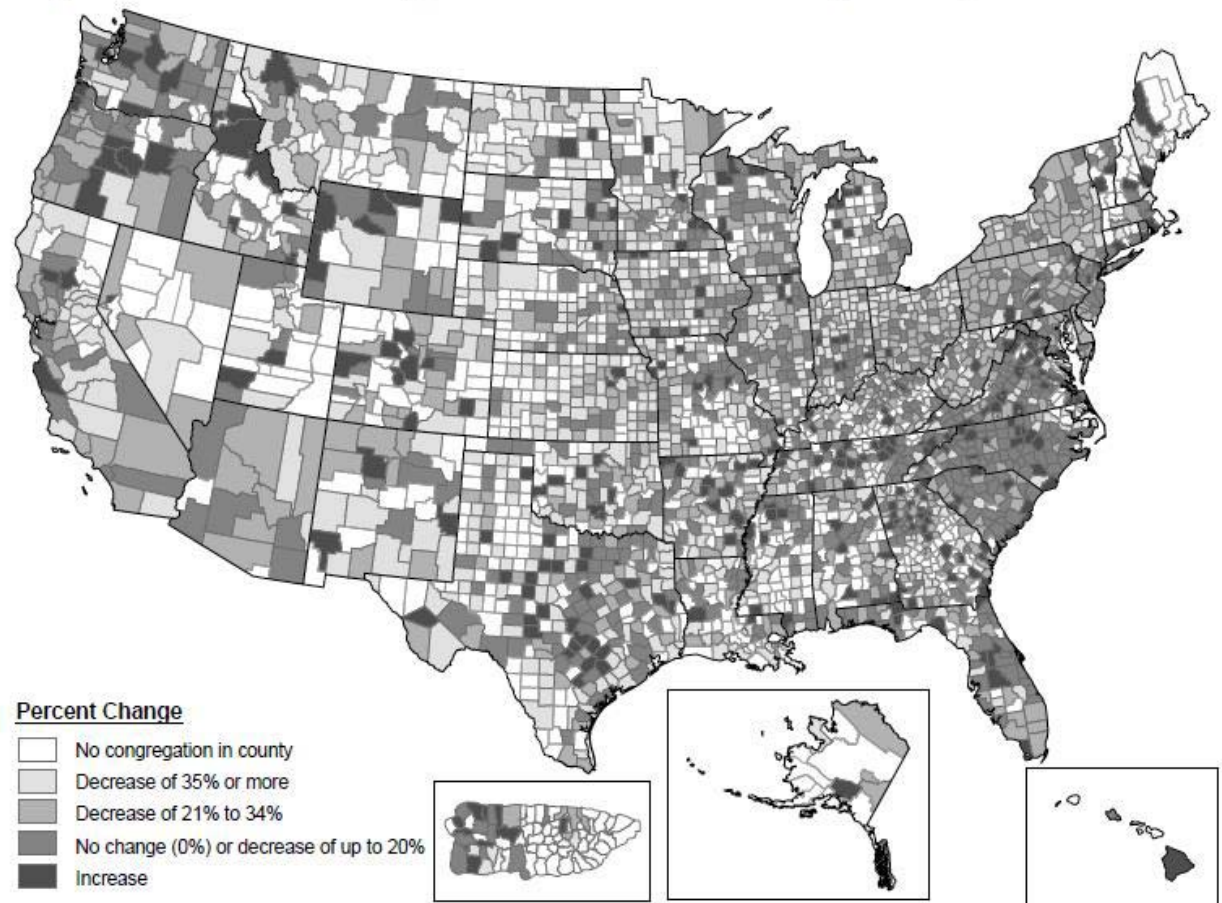

Almost three-fourths of the nation’s 3,221 counties or county equivalents (including 78 municipios in Puerto Rico) have at least one PC(USA) congregation (74%). Selected data about the PC(USA) presence in these 2,388 “Presbyterian counties” are shown on this and the following three pages.

Membership Change. Total membership in the PC(USA) fell from 2,525,330 in 2000 to 2,016,091 in 2010, a drop of 20%. Losses occurred throughout the country: Of the 2,431 counties or county equivalents with one or more PC(USA) congregations (“Presbyterian counties”) in 2000, 2,087 (86%) have fewer members in 2010, including 43 (2%) that no longer have a Presbyterian congregation. Of the rest, 32 (1%) had no change and 292 (12%) grew. There are also 10 counties with a PC(USA) congregation in 2010 that did not have one in 2000. (See Figure 1.)

www.pcusa.org/research/2010maps

Counties with the largest percentage membership losses are concentrated in the Middle Atlantic states, from New York, New Jersey, and Delaware west through Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and much of the Midwest. Other pockets of sizable loss are found in the Plains states (especially North Dakota, Kansas, and Oklahoma), southern New Mexico, and California, especially the central valley.

Gains are found in multiple counties in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia (especially greater Atlanta), Tennessee, central Texas, and scattered parts of the West, from the interiors of Washington and Oregon through Idaho, Wyoming, and Colorado. Several municipios in Puerto Rico also grew.

Presbyterians as a Share of Total Population. Presbyterians are rarely a sizable percentage of the population. Nationally, PC(USA) members comprise 0.6% of the total, and, as Table 3 shows (see p. 7), the largest statewide concentration is only 1.6%, the share found in North Carolina, Pennsylvania, and South Carolina.¹ Figure 2 shows this regional pattern, along with similar relative concentrations in parts of Virginia, West Virginia, New York, and New Jersey. Of the 30 counties that are 5% or more Presbyterian, 11 are found in either Virginia (8) or Pennsylvania (3).

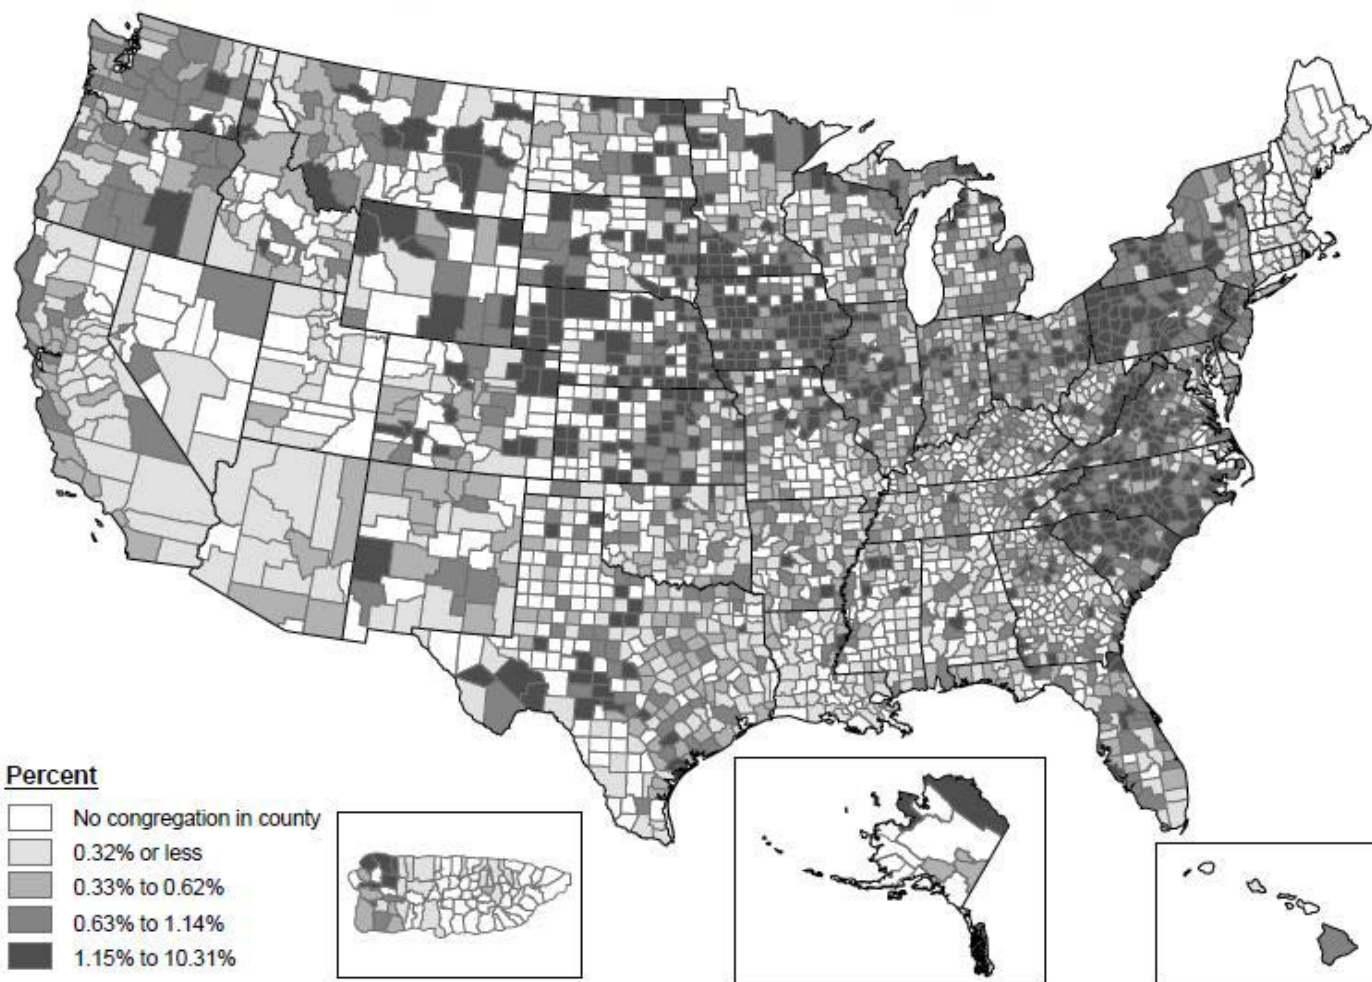

The largest share for any one county, however, is in Treasure County, Montana, where 10.3% of the population is Presbyterian. That county is part of the other large area of Presbyterian concentration, in the plains and upper Midwest. Sixteen of 30 counties where Presbyterians are 5% or more of the population are in this region—five in Iowa, four in South Dakota, three in Nebraska, two in Montana, and one each in Colorado and Minnesota.

Puerto Rico also has a relatively high concentration of Presbyterians in the west of the island.

The lowest concentrations of Presbyterians are found in the Southwest, including California, Arizona, and Utah; the Deep South, especially Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama; Oklahoma and East Texas; and New England.

This map and the others also show the location of counties without any Presbyterian congregations. These are concentrated in New England, the Southern Appalachians, the Deep South north into Missouri and Kentucky, the high plains from Texas to North Dakota, the Rocky Mountains, the intermountain West, and the eastern two-thirds of Puerto Rico (excepting San Juan and adjacent areas).

¹ Keep in mind that children are not counted as members until confirmation; the share would be between 0.7% and 0.8% nationally if they were included.

New Congregations. Between 2000 and 2010 a total of 226 new PC(USA) congregations were chartered.² They are located in 39 states, plus Puerto Rico. Most states with a new congregation had at least two; only 12 had just one. For the nation as a whole—the 50 states plus Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia—the median number of new congregations per state is 2.5; the average is 4.3. Eight states have more than 10 new congregations: California, 23 (located in 12 counties); Georgia, 16 (14); New Jersey, 15 (8); Texas, 15 (13); Florida, 13 (11); New York, 13 (9); Pennsylvania, 13 (8); and Washington, 13 (7). Together, these eight states account for 54% of all congregations newly chartered over the past decade and contain 47% of all counties with a new congregation. (See Figure 3.)

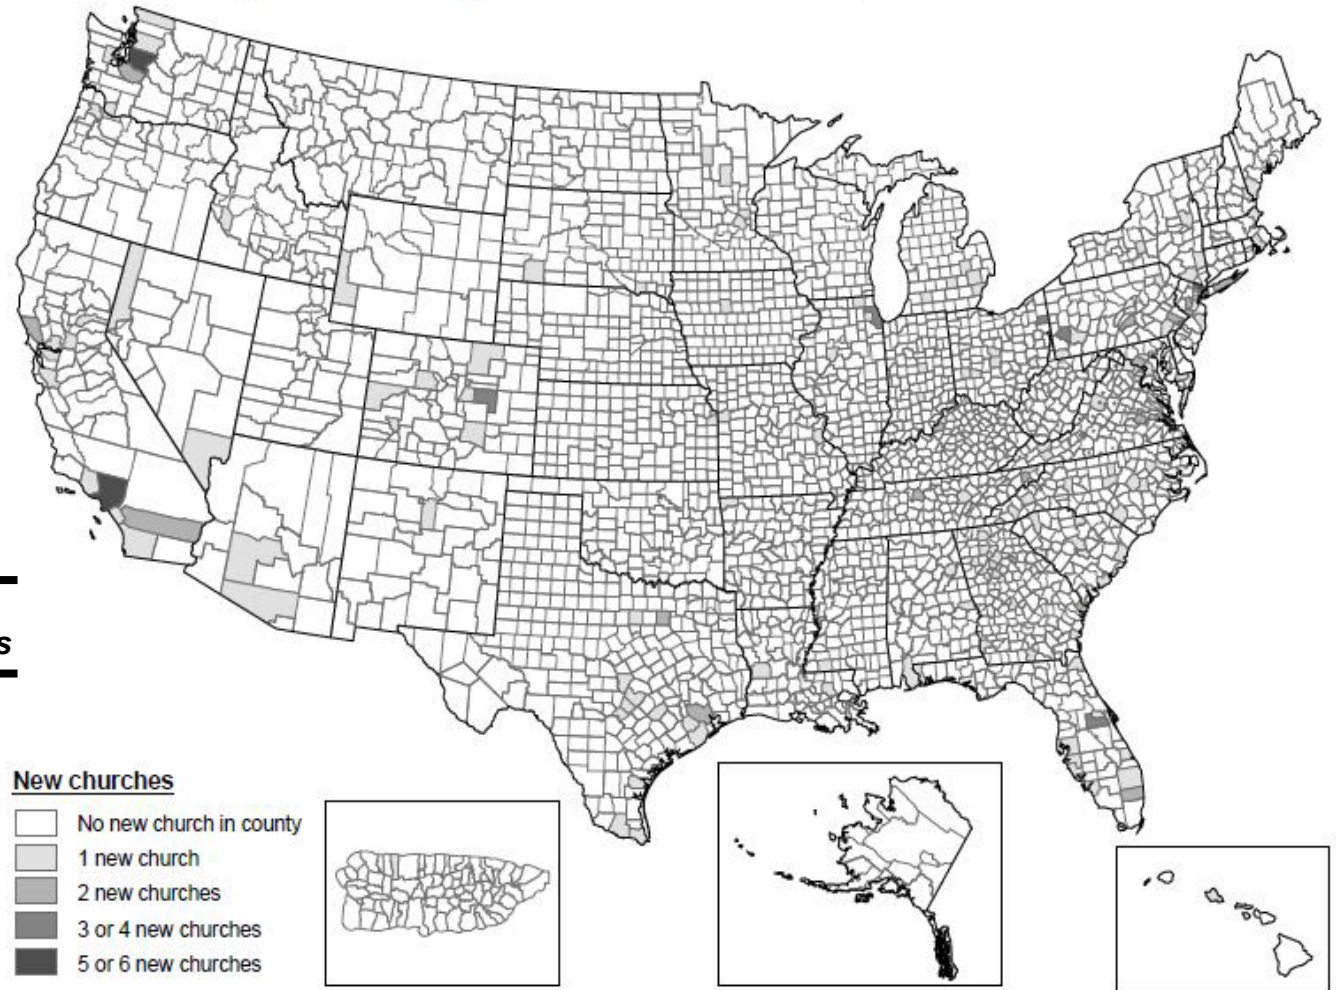

New congregations created over the past decade are located in 174 counties, or 5% of the national total of 3,221. Most of these counties—145, or 83%—have only one new congregation, and most of the rest have only two (19; 11%). One county, San Francisco, has five new congregations, and three others have six each: Los Angeles; Bergen (New Jersey); and King (Washington).

Most counties with a new congregation already had at least one PC(USA) congregation. In only ten counties was a new congregation established where there had been no PC(USA) presence. Only two of these were in the same state: Gilmer and Paulding Counties in Georgia.

Zoom in on a PDF of each map at www.pcusa.org/research/2010maps

Most new congregations are relatively small; the membership in new congregations in the median county is 89. A few counties have more than 500 members in their new congregations, including two counties where a single new congregation has that many: Dutchess, New York (545), and Peoria, Illinois (570).

² We have excluded churches resulting from mergers of existing congregations, congregations received from other denominations, and congregations that were chartered during this period but that have since closed.

Congregations without Pastors. As average membership size has shrunk, fewer congregations can afford an installed pastor, relying instead on stated supply pastors, commissioned lay pastors, or other arrangements—including no regular pastoral leadership. By 2010, more than four in ten PC(USA) congregations (4,653, or 44%) had no installed pastor.³ These congregations are scattered widely, as Figure 4 shows; 1,781 Presbyterian counties (75%) have at least one such congregation.

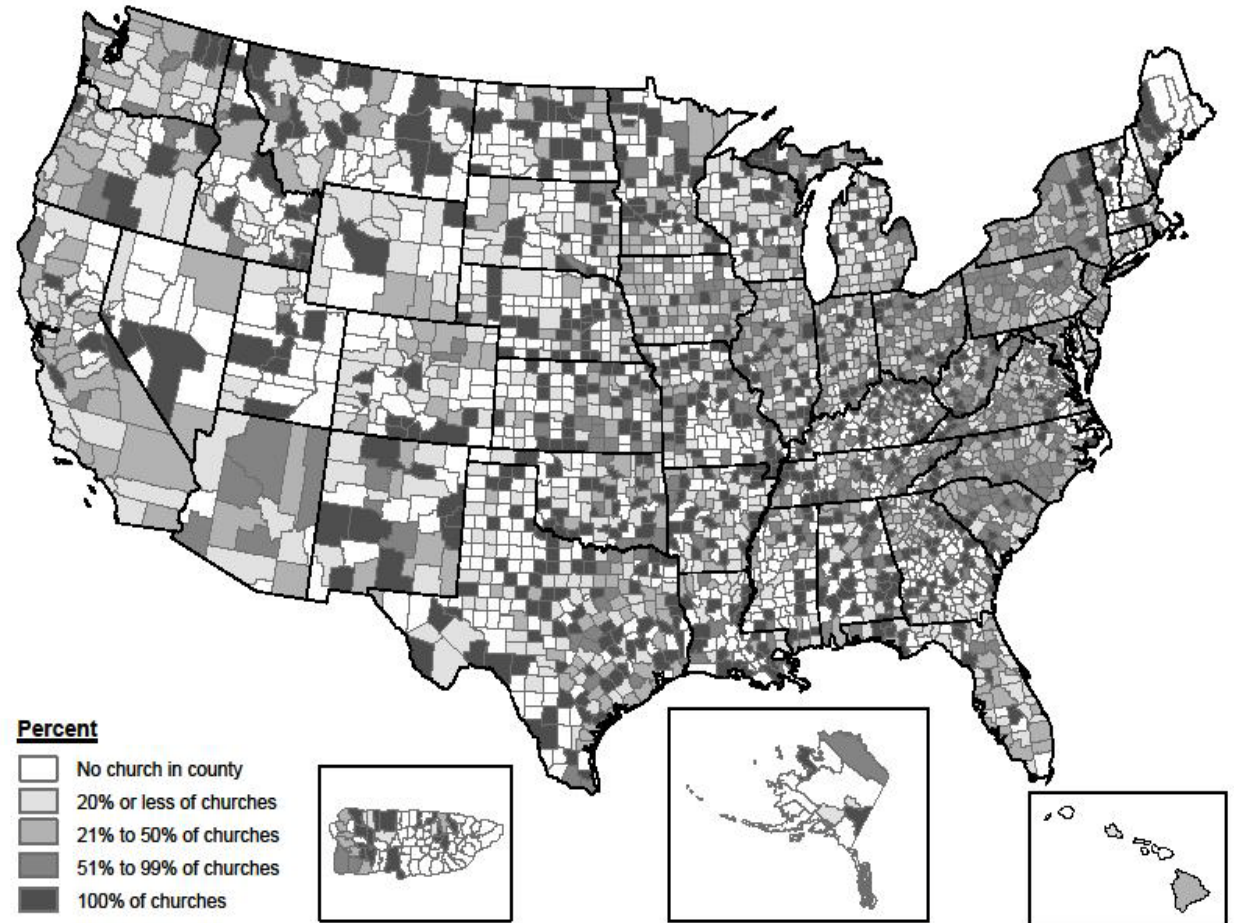

In a number of these counties (668, or 28% of all Presbyterian counties) there are no congregations with an installed pastor. These counties are located throughout the country (save Hawaii), but only a few clusters of more than ten adjacent counties occur where all congregations lack installed pastors (e.g., along the Mississippi River in Missouri, Arkansas, and Tennessee). Most PC(USA) counties have one (852; 36%) or two (386; 16%) congregations without installed pastors, though there are 54 (2%) with ten or more congregations without installed pastors, including Allegheny, Pennsylvania, with 47.

At the same time, 773 (32%) PC(USA) counties have installed pastors in at least 75% of their congregations. This total includes 607 counties (25% of all PC(USA) counties) where all congregations have installed pastors. Most of these counties have only one (386) or two (132) such congregations, though 11 have more than five, including Contra Costa, California, where all 15 congregations have installed pastors. More generally, counties where 75% or more of congregations have installed pastors are scattered widely, with occasional small clusters (e.g., Oregon, Wyoming).

In sum, these maps present four major characteristics of the PC(USA): the geographically broad-based drop in membership over time; the fairly even dispersal and locally low concentrations of Presbyterians across the country; the small number and widely scattered placement of new congregations; and the large number and broad spread of congregations without installed pastors. At the same time, they reveal exceptions to each pattern. What makes these locations different? What might the rest of the church learn from them?

Note: In all, 82.1% of congregations reported the race-ethnicity of their members in 2010. We used other sources to estimate the racial-ethnic membership of non-reporting churches. This includes information from the Black Congregational Enhancement Office, the Native American Congregational Enhancement Office, and the Asian Congregational Enhancement Office, and previous years' reports. We also worked with presbytery offices to resolve discrepancies for a number of churches that did report. As a result, the table reflects information for 99.7% of congregations.

¹ All figures under individual contributions and disbursements to local program and local mission are based only on reporting congregations and their members (shown under "Reporting Members").

² Individual contributions are all monies received, such as payments on pledges, loose offerings, special offerings, and other gifts to the church from living donors (except capital fund contributions).

³ Total receipts includes individual contributions, donations to capital and building funds, bequests, investment income, and other income.

* = Less than 0.05%; rounds to zero.

¹ All figures under individual contributions and disbursements to local program and local mission are based only on reporting congregations and their members (shown under “Reporting Members”).

² Individual contributions are all monies received, such as payments on pledges, loose offerings, special offerings, and other gifts to the church from living donors (except capital fund contributions).

³ Total receipts includes individual contributions, donations to capital and building funds, bequests, investment income, and other income.

² Other pastoral leadership includes commissioned lay pastors, pastors from other denominations, interim pastors, tentmakers, organizing pastors, retired clergy, and supply pastors.

³ Congregations without pastoral leadership are those without installed pastors and without other pastoral leadership.

⁴ Based on congregations that reported membership and worship attendance in 2010.

⁵ Calculated as total contributions divided by average worship attendance for only those congregations reporting both.

⁶ This number is less than the total number of congregations shown in Table 1 because there were 24 congregations with no members.

Technical Information

Sources of Data

Unless otherwise noted, membership data presented in this publication are those reported by congregations to the Office of the General Assembly and are from the Session Annual Statistical Report. Ministerial data are reported by stated clerks of presbyteries. Data on candidates for ministry are from the Office of Vocation. Notations on sources appear on each financial table.

Guidelines for Use

All statistics for synods and presbyteries in this edition of Comparative Statistics (as in earlier editions) are based on current boundaries. To the extent that boundaries have changed, statistics presented here cannot be compared with the statistics in previous editions of Comparative Statistics.

Tables are numbered from 1-15. Check table titles (not table numbers) in making comparisons with membership and ministerial data in previous annual editions.

Most percentages have been rounded. When the observed value is at dead center between two adjacent values it is rounded to the nearest even number. Thus, 7.5 is raised to 8, while 6.5 is lowered to 6. (Theoretically, even and odd numbers occur with equal frequency in the long run. Consequently, in rounding consistently to the nearest even number, half of the values will be raised and the other half lowered, thereby canceling out errors and leaving the sums free of rounding error.)

Definitions: Membership

Membership Gains and Losses are those reported annually to the Office of the General Assembly by congregations (see Book of Order 2009–2011, Sections G-5.0200, G-10.0302 (a & b), D-12.0000).

Total Gains in membership is the number derived by adding gains through: Profession of Faith, Reaffirmation, and Restoration (the number of persons received during the year through professions of faith; reaffirmation; and restoration to the active members' roll after removal, deletion or temporary exclusion); Certificate (persons received into membership upon receipt of a certificate of transfer from another church); and Other (all other additions to the active roll, including adjustments)—all categories which appear in the Minutes of the General Assembly, Part II: Statistics.

Total Losses in membership is the number derived by adding membership losses through: Certificate (persons dismissed to other churches for whom certificates of transfer have been issued); Death (members whose names have been deleted from the active roll because of death); and Other (all other persons whose names have been removed from the active membership roll through transfer from the active to the inactive roll, deletion from the active roll for any other reason, or temporary exclusion or removal from the active roll).

Definitions: Ministers

Pastor/Co-pastors are solo pastors, co-pastors, heads of staff, or designated pastors serving a particular congregation or congregations.

Associate Pastors are associate pastors serving a particular congregation or congregations, including designated associate pastors.

Supply Pastors are stated or temporary supply pastors serving a particular congregation or congregations.

Interims are pastors and associate pastors serving a congregation during a transition time after one pastor leaves and before a new pastor is called.

Chaplains serve in schools, colleges, universities, seminaries, hospitals, and other institutions; in military service; or in Veterans Administration service.

PC(USA) Executives are ministers serving as executive, stated clerk, or other staff in middle governing bodies or General Assembly entities.

School Staff or Faculty are ministers serving as president, administrative staff, or faculty of colleges, universities, seminaries, or other schools.

Counselors are ministers serving as spiritual director or as pastoral counselor in congregations, pastoral counseling centers, or vocational settings.

Tentmakers are ministers serving in a particular congregation or congregations who are also employed in work outside of parish ministry.

Other Professionals are ministers serving as chief administrator or staff of other denominational bodies, ecumenical or non-denominational agencies, or other institutions.

Other shows ministers who are without a validated call.

Retired includes ministers who are honorably retired members of presbytery or who serve as pastor emeritus/emerita of particular congregations.

Candidates are individuals seeking to become ministers of the Word and Sacrament who have completed the inquirer phase and been examined by their presbytery's Committee on Preparation for Ministry and the presbytery as a whole and enrolled as candidates for ministry.

Definitions: Finances

Total Receipts is the sum of monies received by all treasurers (including church treasurers and the treasurers of all boards and organizations of the church) between January 1 and December 31, 2008 in the following categories:

Contributions from Living Donors—payments on pledges, current as well as delinquent; loose offerings; special offerings.

Capital and Building Funds—receipts for capital purposes or building funds.

Investment and Endowment Income—interest and dividends from stocks, bonds, other investments, and endowments; proceeds from sale of investments.

Bequests—the value of all new gifts from estates.

Other Income—rent or reimbursement from organizations using church property; tuition/fees for day care; and other income.

Total Receipts exclude monies received from other churches or from a presbytery, synod, or the General Assembly for local program or mission.

Total Expenditures is the sum of expenditures during the year in the following categories:

Local Program Expenditures—the total of all monies expended for current operations of the congregation, such as salaries and wages; pension and Social Security payments; printing, postage, and materials; utilities; insurance premiums; and payments of interest or principal on loans—whether secured by a mortgage or not.

Local Mission Expenditures—monies expended on all local mission projects approved and directed by the session and payments to local ecumenical bodies, such as councils of churches.

Capital Expenditures—all monies expended for real property, whether improved or unimproved; construction of new buildings; extraordinary repairs on existing buildings; and equipment with anticipated useful life in excess of three years.

Investment Expenditures—monies newly placed into long- or short-term savings or investments (certificates of deposit, real property mortgages, stocks and bonds, real property, money market funds, etc.) during the year and remaining invested at the end of the year; brokers' fees; bank charges; etc.

Per Capita Apportionment—the total of monies expended for assessments from presbytery, synod, and General Assembly for their operating expenses.

Validated Mission Expenditures—all monies given to presbytery, synod, and General Assembly agencies for mission projects, including payments toward the mission budgets of these entities, and all proceeds from presbytery or synod special offerings, as well as General Assembly special offerings (i.e., One Great Hour of Sharing Offering, Christmas Joy Offering, Peacemaking Offering, and Pentecost Offering), other offerings (Disaster Relief, Thank Offering, etc.), payments to the Theological Education Fund, and funds donated to all other PC(USA)-sponsored programs. (Per capita apportionments are not included.) Also included are monies given for mission programs and projects that are related to the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), but are not described in the categories above (mission approved, but not directed by, the governing body with jurisdiction or institutions related to presbytery, synod or General Assembly).

Other Mission Expenditures—all monies expended for mission causes not related to the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) and not included in the categories defined above.

Changing Definitions

On July 10, 2011, the part of the church's constitution dealing with governance was replaced with a new document that changed some common church terms. In particular, "ministers of the Word and Sacrament" are now known as "teaching elders," and "elders" are now known as "ruling elders." In this report, we continue to use the older terms because they were in effect in 2010.
